

HEALTH FOOD OR FAST FOOD FOR YOUR PLANTS!

Not all plants are the same or require the same amount of nutrients; plants need food the same as people. Like a well-balanced diet helps the human body stay healthy and strong, soils treated with quality nutrients provide the life support system for healthier stronger plants. Fertilizers benefit plants but rarely do they build soil health. Healthy soils require a balance of quality nutrients, however; it is rare to find in most of our growing environments.

Biosol is a unique product that is an all-purpose natural organic fertilizer with long lasting benefits and soil-improving consequences, providing dramatic results. With initial watering Biosol swells and retains three to four times its weight in water. Biosol's well-balanced nutrient ratio supplies plants with high quality macro and micronutrients, while unlocking tied up nutrients in the soils throughout the entire growing period. Building organic matter, humus and soil structure allows soils to become active and healthier, making nutrients available for plant consumption. The high quality nutrients and organic material in Biosol builds and improves soil structure so that soils are enriched. Plant roots and mycorrhizae colonization are improved and plant vitality is increased, while strengthening the plants resistance against diseases / stress. One key factor of Biosol is its ability to promote a healthy balance of soil microbes, insuring long-term health of your plants and soils. In fact Biosol was developed the same way slow release vitamins and antibiotics were developed for humans, making it 100% natural and environmentally balanced, promoting good health for plants and soils. Nutrients are released continuously throughout the growing cycle, reducing maintenance costs associated with lesser quality fertilizers, which require numerous applications.

Without high quality nutrients all fertilizers are the same. Nitrate leaching into ground water is limited with Biosol because of the organic fixation of nutrients, allowing the maximum use of those nutrients. It's ideal for new and existing commercial and residential landscaping and gardens. Biosol is a safe and ecological fertilizer because of the selected natural raw materials and vitamins. Therefore, it's safe to use around children and animals. University tested and used around the world. Add Biosol to your soils and receive yearly benefits.
